Resolution, Death of Chairman W.O.Russell.

As we convene today we are without the Chairman of this Board who has so long presided over our deliberations. Since we last met here there has passed from among us a man who was truly as much a part of Yolo County as the soil within its borders. We, the members of this Board of Supervisors and its attaches, who worked with him so intimately down through the many years, know, perhaps better that any one else, that he served this County well and ably for many years as well as the great State of California which he loved. His counsel was not only sought and deeply appreciated here - it was eagerly sought throughout this County and in high places in the State of California. The finest and most fitting thing can be said of his career as a public officer is that he was all that a public officer, executing a public trust, ought to be. We who sit here today are deeply conscious of the fact of his fine leadership born of hid concept of public duty. He was kindly, genial and always calm and possessed a delectable sense of humor. He had a deep understanding of the rightness and justice of things and in the pursuit of what he thought to be right and just he was unafraid and courageous. We, perhaps more than any one else, can truthfully say that whenever he went into a conference to ameliorate differences of opinion, out of that conference came something constructive clothed in goodwill. We who worked here with/throughout him many years are truly grieved by his passing. We, as well as thousands of others who knew him and who came within the ray of his kindly and genial character will always have a very deep and pleasurable memory of William O. Russell, "Bill Russell" as he was fondly called and as he liked to be known.

Now, therefore, be it resolved and it is hereby unanimously ordered by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Yolo, State of California, that when it adjourns today it adjourn out of respect to and in memory of the late William O. Russell, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the members of his family, and spread upon the official records of this Board of Supervisors.

EXCERPTS QUOTED FROM ACT 2323 DEERING'S GENERAL LAWS 1944

"In the event of National or local emergency created by military attack or sabotage or in the providing for adequate National or local defense, or upon the occasion of a great public calamity such as extraordinary fire, flood, storm, epidemic, earthquake, or other disaster, any services performed, or expenditures made in connection therewith, by any public agency with respect thereto, whether within or without the territorial limits of such agency, shall be demmed conclusively to be for the direct protection and benefit of the inhabitants and property of such agency. When such services are to be performed outside the territorial limits of the public agency so performing them, such services shall be ordered by the chief administrative officer in charge of the office or the department of such agency performing such services unless otherwise provided by the governing body of such agency."

"All the privileges and immunities from liability, exemptions from laws, ordinances and rules, all pension, relief, disability, workmen's compensation and other benefits, which apply to the activity of officers, agents or employees of such agency when performing their respective functions within the territorial limits of their respective public agencies shall apply to them to the same degree and extent while engaged in the performance of any of their functions or duties extra territorially during any of the emergencies prescribed in Section 1 hereof."

EXCERPTS QUOTED FROM NINTH SERVICE COMMAND WAR DISASTER RELIEF PLAN 1944

"4. Scope of Military Assistance.

Military assistance in the event of war disaster may vary from the loan of supplies and equipment in a minor emergency, to complete responsibility and control in the event of a declaration of martial law or its equivalent. It must be emphasized that in the event the Army assumes control, civilian agencies are still responsible for providing assistance in the form of personnel, organizations, and equipment of all types. In no case can the Army provide all of the above.

6. Available Forces.

a. The following forces are under the control of the Commanding General, Ninth Service Command, and are available for war disaster relief:

(1) Military police units.
(2) Bomb disposal units.
(3) Station complements.
(4) Organizations training for extended field duty under control of this headquarters, and not alerted for movement overseas.

b. Army Ground Force and Western Defense Command units which may be made available by higher authority.

10. Emergencies not Covered by this Plan.

The following types of emergencies may occur coincidentally with war disasters. Methods of dealing with these emergencies are set forth in other plans, which will become operative when necessary. Hence, such emergencies are not provided for in this plan.

a. Fifth column action.

b. Civil disturbances beyond the power of local and state governments to control.

c. Forest fires."

EXCERPTS QUOTED FROM WESTERN DEFENSE COMMAND COUNTER FIFTH COLUMN PLAN 1944

"2, Purpose of Plan

This plan established the basis and principles upon which Western Defense Command

Sector Commanders, and the Commanding General, Ninth Service Command, will prepare plans to organize, train and operate coordinated federal and state troops, police forces and volunteer agencies to deal with the Fifth Column and its supporting troops.

II. ESTIMATE OF THE SITUATION

5. Potential Fifth Column.

The following types of persons are potential Fifth Columnists:

a. Enemy aliens and sympathizers, including persons having personal or political grievances against the government and those amenable to promises of money or power.

b. Those with property or close relatives in enemy, enemy-occupied or pro-enemy countries.

c. Those educated in, residents there-in over a long period, or frequent visitors to enemy countires.

d. Enemy agents disguised as refugees.

e. Trained saboteurs and Fifth Column organizers infiltrated into the country before or during the war.

f. Fanatics, citizen or alien, such as extreme radicals, pacifists, religious zealots, habitual criminals (especially arsonists), racketeers and those in narcotic and other vice rings and unbalanced, perverted and thwarted individuals such as sadists, frustrated 'geniuses', disgruntled failures and swindlers.

g. Members of so-called minority groups stirred by subversive propaganda to resentment against the government and military forces or imbued with the possibility of utilizing the war to gain special social or political advantage.

h. Former employees of enemy commercial and banking firms, travel and press bureaus, information agencies and cultural, athletic and sports organizations.

6. Types of Operations.

Fifth Column activities can be classified generally into the following types:

a. Seizure of points of strategic importance to the advance of the enemy to be held momentarily until the arrival of airborne or ground troops.

b. Disorganization of military forces by sniping, spreading false rumors, issuing false orders or destroying facilities and installations valuable to defending forces, such as communications, transportation, electric power, housing and supplies.

c. Disorganization of civilian population by destruction of vital facilities and installations and by causing panic and rioting.

d. Signalling to guide enemy ground, air or air-borne troops to their objective such as warnings by rockets, lights in chimneys and wells or by definite ground patterns.

e. Storage of gasoline, vehicles, food and other supplies needed by advancing hostile forces.

f. Organized acts of sabotage, striking simultaneously at different plants, facilities and critical points in conjunction with external attack.

7. Probabilities.

The lack of proven enemy-inspired sabotage to date confirms the possibility that the Fifth Column is well disciplined and awaiting planned and unified major action when directed. To direct their activities it may be expected that attempts will be made to land trained saboteurs and spies or to infiltrate them from neighboring nations. Such saboteurs are not limited to citizens or subjects of Axis powers, but may be citizens of friendly or allied countries or of the United States. Fifth Column activities may be expected during a period of serious civil disorder.

10. Responsibilities.

a. Western Defense Command Sector Commanders are responsible for Counter Fifth Column planning and action for the area within the section boundaries.

b. The Commanding General, Ninth Service Command, is responsible for Counter Fifth Column planning and action for the area of the Ninth Service Command not included within Western Defense Command sectors.

13. Detailed Plans.

Western Defense Command Sector and Ninth Service Command Security District Supporting Counter Fifth Column Plans will include such of the following as may be appropriate:

a. Information documents, studies, situation and operation maps.

b. Necessary instructions for coordination of plans, operations, and such training as may be practicable, of other local military and civilian agencies furnishing personnel and equipment for operation under the plan.

c. Maintenance of established contact with the counter-intelligence net, State and local law enforcement agencies, (see paragraphs 11 and 12), adjoining sectors or subsectors, security districts, Coast Guard, Coastal Lookouts, and other agencies capable of furnishing information of potential Fifth Column activity.

d. Organization of all available means of communication for the receipt and dissemination of information and the transmission of orders. Provisions for alternate means of communication are essential.

e. Plans for assembly and employment of all local forces in the event of operation under this plan, as well as for supporting forces which may be made available by higher headquarters.

f. Utilization of liaison with local Civilian Defense agencies to allay panic and permit effective civil counter measures (see paragraphs 11 and 12).

g. Establishment of effective contact with radio broadcasting stations and local newspapers as the most rapid and effective means of keeping the public informed, advising civilians of action to be taken.

h. Provision for constant revision of existing plans of operations for the local defense of vital installations and areas subject to Fifth Column action as may be necessary because of changing personnel available or revised information concerning such installations as may be issued from time to time from higher headquarters."

"WAR DEPARTMENT HEADQUARTERS, ARMY SERVICE FORCES
Washington 25, D. C.

MEMORANDUM)
No. S-500-1-43)

24 July 1943.

USE OF FEDERAL TROOPS AT REQUEST OF STATE

1. The use of Federal forces to protect a State is a constitutional duty of the National Government (Const., art. IV, sec. 4) and is governed by R.S. 5297 and 5300; 50 U.S.C. 201 and 204. (See par. 4a(1) and 6, AR 500-50, 5 April 1937.) Until further orders, the following procedure will govern the furnishing of Federal aid pursuant thereto:

a. The request for Federal assistance must be made by the State legislature if it is convened or if it can be convened in time to meet the emergency; otherwise, by the Governor. (See President's Proclamation No. 2581, 21 June 1943; S RF, 8733.)

b. The request must be made by the State direct to the President, and a copy of such request should be furnished the commanding general of the service command, or his local representative, as soon as practicable. The request should assert that the forces of the State are insufficient to copy with the emergency. A suggested form of request is inclosed. (Incl. No. 1).

c. The Federal forces may be moved to the general vicinity of the disturbance, but will not be brought to the scene of the disturbance until the president has issued the proclamation required by law. This proclamation may demand the immediate dispersal of the insurgents or may set a time within which the insurgents must disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes. The commanding officer of the Federal forces will govern his action accordingly. A draft of the form of proclamation to be used by the President is inclosed. (Incl. No. 2).

d. The commanding general of the service command should enter into an agreement with the State whereby any State forces present will be subject to orders of the local commander of the Federal forces. (See par. 7c, AR 170-10, 24 Dec. 1942.)

e. The Federal forces will be withdrawn by the War Department upon the recommendation of the commanding general of the service command when the necessity for the use thereof has ceased. The Governor should be informed at a reasonable time in advance, of the plan to withdraw the Federal troops. No further proclamation or instruction from the President is necessary to effect such withdrawal. (See par. 7e, AR 500-50.)

2. The instructions concerning the use of Federal troops at the request of a State do not affect the use of Federal troops in an emergency in accordance with paragraph 5b, AR 500-50; nor do they restrict the wartime responsibility of the commanding general of the service command, and other designated commanding officers, on their own initiative to establish and maintain military guards and patrols and to take other appropriate measures necessary or desirable to protect national defense material, premises, and utilities, as required by Executive Order No. 8972, 12 December 1941. (See Cir. 57, WD, 1943.) Where action of the latter nature is to be taken in a situation which might involve a request by the State for assistance under R.S. 5297, the responsible commanding officer should issue a proclamation stating that the sole object of his action is the protection of national defense material, premises, or utilities (specifying the location thereof) in furtherance of the war effort, as required by Executive Order No. 8972.

3. The information contained in this memorandum will be brought to the attention of the Governor of each State within the limits of the respective service commands.
